
1 How to read this

AnuRupa is not a matrimony portal. Portals like Shaadi.com or BharatMatrimony are self-service: members register themselves, search themselves and pay a subscription. AnuRupa is a consultant-led tool — Anupama holds the book, does the matching, and shares a curated shortlist. That distinction drives everything below, because the two models are priced very differently.

Three market segments are relevant:

- Matrimonial software / scripts (India) — productised portals sold as a one-time licence.
- Matchmaker CRM (international) — subscription tools for professional matchmakers.
Closest in purpose to AnuRupa.
- Bespoke build — what AnuRupa is: built to one agency's workflow, source code owned.

2 What the market charges

3 Features unique to AnuRupa

These come from the consultant-led model and are generally absent from portal software, because a portal assumes members serve themselves.

FEATURE	WHY IT MATTERS
Search on behalf of a named client	Every search is attributed. Portals search as "the member"; here the consultant searches for someone.
Already-shared profiles greyed out	Prevents re-sending the same profile to a family — the single most common manual error.
Three-tier field-level sharing	Photos only / basic / all details, enforced server-side per field. Portals are all-or-nothing by membership tier.
Expiring, revocable share links	A family's access ends on a date you set, or the moment you revoke it. No account required at their end.
Shortlists attributed back to the client	You see which profiles each family hearted, from either a share link or the browse page.
Engagement analytics	"Contacted this week", "no response in 30+ days", "never opened a link" — a follow-up worklist, not vanity metrics.
Identity gate before browsing	No one sees a profile without leaving a name and number. Turns anonymous traffic into tracked clients.
Intake form mirroring your own sheet	Sections and field names match the paper form, including rasi, nakshatram, gotram, sub-caste and the AM/AMP/AMO tag.
WhatsApp-first sharing	One tap composes the message, addressed to the client by name, with the link.
Phone-based client identity	"+91 98765 43210" and "9876543210" resolve to one client, so records do not fragment.

5 What we deliberately do not have

Stated plainly so the comparison is honest. None of these are built today; each would be a separate piece of work.

CAPABILITY	TYPICAL IN	COMMENT
Member self-registration portal	Matrimony software	AnuRupa is consultant-entered by design
Native iOS / Android apps	Growth tiers and above	The web app works on phones; app stores add cost and review cycles
Payment gateway & membership plans	Matrimony software	Relevant only if you sell self-service memberships
Member-to-member chat	Matrimony software	Contact is intentionally brokered by the consultant
Automated horoscope matching	Some Indian products	We store rasi/nakshatram/gotram but do not compute guna milan
Multiple staff logins & roles	Business tiers, CRMs	Single admin account today
Multi-branch / franchise	Business tiers	Single agency today
Multi-language	Enterprise tiers	English only today

6 Where this leaves the pricing

AnuRupa is narrower than a ₹3.5 L portal — no apps, no payment gateway, no member self-service — but it is bespoke rather than a configured template, it carries workflow that none of the portal products offer, and the source code is owned outright with no annual licence.

The quoted price is ₹90,000: ₹75,000 one-time setup plus ₹15,000 for three months of bug-fix support. Against the market that places it:

- Within the basic-script band (₹50,000 – ₹1,20,000) on price, despite being a bespoke build rather than a template.
- Below the starter self-hosted tier (₹1,50,000), which buys a configured product with no custom workflow.
- Well below the growth tier (₹3,50,000), which buys a mobile app and payment gateway that AnuRupa does not need.

Against a subscription CRM the comparison is starker: SmartMatchApp Advanced alone is roughly ₹1,04,500 every year, with no source code and no bespoke workflow at the end of it. The entire AnuRupa build costs less than its first year.

Commercial note. ₹90,000 prices a custom build at template rates. That is a deliberate commercial decision rather than a reflection of comparable market rates, and it is worth keeping in mind as the anchor for any later feature-update quotations.

Caveat on sources. The Indian price bands are published by a vendor on its own marketing pages, so treat them as indicative list prices rather than independently audited figures. Real quotes in this market are negotiated and vary with scope. Subscription prices are list prices as published at the time of writing.
